

A blog with a different perspective

Author : admin

Date : December 5, 2008

LONDON -- I love finding new writers on internal communications and change management. A colleague has just pointed me towards this fellow. He is in Hungary, working for a Japanese-owned company.

You don't see that every day.

He's got some interesting things to say.

<http://behindthefence.wordpress.com/>

Have a read.

/df