

Change -- a practical approach

Author : admin

Date : March 10, 2009

LONDON -- We have a combination of skills that should make this course unique:

- 1) Academic training and thought-leadership in change management
- 2) Experience running some of the communication and engagement streams in some of the world's biggest change programmes
- 3) Training skills that ensure an interesting and interactive learning experience. (We've training thousands of top execs.... With great results.)

So we're pleased to start to roll out our change communication course.

More information is here: change-a-practical-approach-flyer.

We are running our first one Monday, 23 March. Get more info or sign up at info@ableandhow.com or call +44 20 3059 2380

We will be running more of these too, so if you're reading this after the date, get in touch anyway.

See you soon?

/df

P.S. This is the first part of our Portfolio that we will be slowly rolling out. Simple things that are easy to buy.